Student instructions: Meet with your major advisor(s) to complete this form. Once you have met with your major advisor(s), and if you have no other holds, you can access the on-line registration system beginning on the designated day and time for your student classification (according to credits earned). In order to choose appropriate courses, complete all three categories below. Use your program checksheet and General Education menus for more information. List course codes only (e.g., SOCI 101)—there is no need to list section numbers, unless it is a section restricted to your major. Be sure to include laboratories or other corequisites.

MUST-Take Courses

These are generally courses that you must take this upcoming semester to stay on track with your program. Be realistic with this category—many courses have limited seats and may be closed by the time you register. If you don't get into the courses in this section, you should consult with your advisor as soon as possible.

SHOULD-Take Courses

These are courses that are important to take this upcoming semester or next. If you don't get in this upcoming semester, they may become must-takes for the next semester. Be sure to include any prerequisites you need for future coursework.

COULD-Take Courses

Remaining courses or categories required for your general education program, major, minor, or concentration should be listed here. Make sure they're the appropriate level—consider prerequisites, recommended timing, etc. Include elective possibilities, if applicable. (Keep in mind 300-level courses are generally geared for juniors, 400-level for seniors, etc.) Make sure you list ALL options, even if they're not your preference—you need plenty of back-up choices if your first choice courses are full.
